HIGHLANDER TRAINING CENTER

Highlander Training Center rests on 189 acres near Sulphur Springs, Texas, 80 miles east of Dallas. Highlander was founded on the core principle of forging champions.

The three Highlander resident trainers have developed and cared for many top-quality stakes horses and are also highly respected throughout the country for their ability to break and provide early conditioning for young horses just starting their careers. We also have expertise in physical rehabilitation for horses coming off injuries or that just need a break from the rigors of racing.

We are located within easy shipping distance of nine major racetracks, and we regularly ship horses to tracks in Kentucky, New York and across the country. At Highlander Training Center, we strive to produce winning horses through meticulous horsemanship, carefully balanced nutrition, complete veterinary care, and attention to detail. Our riders and grooms are also experienced professionals focused on bringing each individual horse to its maximum potential.
